Modular panel system

Modular panel system

The modular panel system is built around three core elements: the XL decorative panel and slat panels available in two sizes – S and M. Designed for creativity, the system allows for endless combinations, letting you craft unique and personalized wall compositions with ease.

Exceptional durability and high resistance to mechanical damage ensure long-lasting performance, even in high-traffic areas. What's more, the panels are moisture-resistant, making them a perfect choice not only for dry interiors but also for spaces with increased humidity, such as kitchens and bathrooms.

Endless layout possibilities

XL decorative panels are the first panels of this impressive width in the Vilo range. With fewer joints, they offer a sleek, seamless look that adds a touch of refined elegance to any interior. The combination of flat XL panels with S and M slat panels, along with the freedom to mix and match different finishes, allows you to create modern, cohesive, and visually dynamic compositions that bring life to any space. The modular format provides unlimited design freedom, enabling you to tailor arrangements to a wide range of interior styles – from minimalist to more decorative aesthetics. This is a solution that blends visual appeal with practicality, making it ideal for both residential and commercial spaces.

Technology

The product is crafted using cutting-edge MPC (Mineral Polymer Composite) technology. At its heart lies a high-density composite core, enhanced with mineral additives, forming the foundation of a durable, multi-layered construction designed for both performance and aesthetics.
